Listing of the Claims:

What is claimed is:

1. (Currently Amended) A fluid containment device comprising:
 - a) a flexible bag body defining a containment space;
 - b) said bag body including walls having at least two flexible membranes including an inner membrane and an outer membrane disposed adjacent to each other forming a double layered wall and at least one opening, said opening adapted for receiving a body part or limb, said opening including a means for sealing off ~~said end~~ the opening around the body part or limb;
 - c) a means for accessing through said bag body walls and into said containment space;and
 - d) a means for inflating portions of said walls defined by the space between said inner and outer membranes comprising tubular inflatable chambers extending between sealed locations where said outer and inner membranes are sealed together to provide rigidity and strength to said walls.
2. (Originally presented) The fluid containment device claimed in claim 1 further including means for draining fluids captured within said containment space.

6. (Cancelled)

7. (Cancelled)
8. (Cancelled)
9. (Currently amended) The fluid containment device claimed in claim 3 1 wherein said membranes including an inner dimpled surface such that when said bag body collapses onto itself voids are formed between said bag walls forming drainage pathways for any entrapped fluids in said fluid containment device.
10. (Currently amended) The fluid containment device claimed in claim 1 wherein said sealing means including ~~Velcro~~ hook and loop male and female connectors for sealing off ~~said collar around or against a body part~~ the opening around the body part or limb.
11. (Currently amended) The fluid containment device claimed in claim 1 wherein said sealing means including adhesive means for sealing off ~~said collar around or against a body part~~ the opening around the body part or limb.
